Hawkeye Insider – Glenn Patton, U of Iowa Hall of Fame Swimming and Diving Coach

A pinnacle of Glenn Patton's career was getting inducted into the University of Iowa Athletic Hall of Fame this past September 2009.

Glenn graduated from Lunenburg, MA, High School (Go Blue Knights!). He played basketball, baseball and ran on the track team. Glenn graduated from Springfield College in 1964 and married his high school sweetheart, Joyce that summer. While Joyce taught 2nd grade, Glenn attended graduate school at Springfield. He had a graduate assistantship teaching swimming classes and working with the swim team. He graduated with his Masters Degree in 1965.

Glenn credits Springfield College swim coach Red Silvia for changing his life. Red convinced him to join the swim team in his sophomore year and Glenn became totally immersed in swimming from that point on. He was captain of the swim team his senior year and an NCAA All American in two events; the mile (1650 freestyle) and the 4 by 400 freestyle relay team.

Glenn's career took a boost while coaching swimming at Alfred Tech, a 2-year college of the State University of New York, 1967-1975. He won 4 consecutive National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) National Swimming Championships!

"Bump" Elliott was impressed and hired Glenn as head swimming coach at Iowa in 1975. A priority goal of Glenn's was to knock off Indiana as the Big Ten swimming kingpin. He did that in 1981 when Iowa won the Big Ten Championship by stopping Indiana's Coach "Doc" Counsilman's winning streak of 21 consecutive titles!

While at Iowa he coached 11 Olympic swimmers, many Big Ten and NCAA champions, finished as high as 8th on the national level and won 2 Big Ten Championships. Glenn takes pride in the fact that he also taught academic classes during his tenure at U of Iowa.

The Pattons joined TBIC when Eddie Peters, former Iowa City neighbor, informed them about the club. They live in Iowa and Florida and stay busy with family, sports, several board activities, and real estate sales.
